The bridges on the river Krishna are the pride of our city Vijayawada. Whenever I walked across the river bed Iâ??m captivated by their charming dignity; the bridges draped themselves like well-behaved models. As if imploring me, Iâ??m ready, waiting, quickly fix me up in fine colors in your camera.

Wearing the orange cover of sunlight in the morning or inviting the dappling effects of clouds as guests at the evening hour, or reflecting their regalia in the streams, as clear as glass, traveling beneath the gravity-defying mighty structures. Even, after a year of Sundays, the majesty of the bridges of Vijayawada will remain as bewitching as it stands, forever!

I promised myself to capture their grandeur in hundred distinctive impressions.

Vijayawada is the largest city on River Krishna, in Andhra Pradesh, India.
