

THE EARTH LAUGHS IN FLOWERS

Description

I was on my way to Rajahmundry to attend one of my friend's daughter's wedding. I have planned a brief stopover at the Kadiyam nurseries.

On either side of the highway, the nurseries seemed like "painting the earth with all its brightest colors." Given proper support and ideas, the place has all the nature's glory and richness to transform as a mini Holland of a greener kind.

I have spent a couple of hours and selected a few flowers to trap their hues and textures. Who doesn't enjoy flowers? They say "The earth laughs in flowers." Let's join the laughter!

Category

1. Uncategorized

Date Created

2018/06/27

Author

eswarnadipalli